The macro recorder will record the keystrokes in a single expression while the macro recorder will generate a series of keystrokes as a macro. This is mainly because of the following advantages:

1. It is faster and more convenient than recording a series of keystrokes and then converting the keystrokes to the expression.
2. It is easier to understand your macro after you have recorded the macro.
3. It can easily distinguish the macro output from the normal output.
4. It is convenient to use the macro to search, replace, or modify the text in other applications.
